

Home improvement: Here's how to give your house a makeover during the lockdown

As we spend more time in the house due to self-quarantine or due to work from home directives, it is a good time to refurbish all the rooms. Here are some tips on how to transform your home during the lockdown

By Parul Mittal

The lockdown has forced us to balance our time more thoughtfully. Most of us are indulging in new indoor activities or re-discovering long-lost hobbies that we have been trying to do amidst our busy schedules.

While we are also practising newer ways to pamper ourselves, how about paying some attention and showing some love to our home as well? After all, it has become a place where we are spending all our time. Therefore, caring for our home is also an important job as it directly impacts our personal well-being.

We bring you different ways of refurbishing your space with as much love and devotion required to make your home look as attractive as possible...

Pep up the living room

During this quarantine period, the relationship between your interiors and its influence on your body or mind can be worked upon to create an energetic and healthy environment.

Black and white themed living rooms are very chic

Since, our living rooms have become the new hangout spot, how about we give a quick cleansing and makeover to revitalise the surroundings?

With as dynamic as a combination of black and white, you can treat your walls with a hint of classic drama. Re-arrange your stuff neatly so that you can easily reach anything you might need. Use homemade scented candles as fragrances in the living room to instantly enliven your mood as it makes for a great decorative piece too.

Everyone is putting all their efforts to maintain personal and environmental hygiene to stay safe at home. Therefore, one can opt for veneers that are eco-friendly yet durable and those that do not have any harmful impact on your health or surroundings.

Lastly, pair net or transparent curtains which can also be made from already available bedsheets or other light fabrics. This will allow sunlight to illuminate your interiors and infuse a new look to the room.